Kennedy Magic Pleases Crowd at Randhurst

Sen. Robert Kennedy brought national politics close to home Saturday as he made a speech at Randhurst Shopping Center endorsing the candidacy of Sen. Paul H. Douglas.

The New York Democrat arrived at Randhurst at 12:45 p.m. Saturday and was greeted by an enthusiastic crowd of about 1,000 cheering residents. In clear doses of politeness to catch a path for Sen. Kennedy, the crowd moved around him, eager for a touch or a smile of recognition.

The same was reminiscent of the 1960 presidential campaign when the phrase "Kennedy Magic" was coined. Saturday demonstrated that the magic is still very much alive and working for what is probably America's foremost political family.

Sen. Kennedy was accompanied by Sen. Douglas and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago. The senator was not wearing a top coat, despite weather in the low 50s. From a speaker's platform built under the Randhurst water tower, Kennedy praised Sen. Douglas, calling him "the conscience of the U. S. Senate."

LEADING Illinois Democrats, including state candidates Donald M. Prince and Adlai Stevenson III, were on the platform to greet Sen. Kennedy and hear him endorse Sen. Douglas and the entire Democratic ticket.

Sen. Robert Kennedy is greeted by an adoring as he mounts speakers' platform at Democratic Rally at Randhurst Saturday. On Kennedy's left is Wheeling Township Committee James Stearns.

Big and Small Zoning Requests Await Trustees

Gerold J. Marcy would like to build a garage 19 feet wide on his lot at the corner of Maple and Keasota but village zoning regulations require that the garage be 21 feet wide.

Mayor Daley introduced Sen. Kennedy. For about 20 minutes, Kennedy told the accomplishments of Sen. Douglas and the need to re-visit the Douglas to the Senate in November.

Byronet Lee has a similar problem. He built a redwood fence around his swimming pool without knowing that village zoning provides for fence must be not reduced.

Tommy Martz and Gary, two men with minor requests going before the village board along with petitions asking for zoning requests with price tag ranging up to $40 million.

Next is a request for commercial B-1 zoning on 17 lots on the east side of Arlington Heights Rd. between Higgins and Cypress Sts. This request doesn't have a price tag. It was sent out by the residents may have been on the position of their driveway that crosses the public way.

Attorney Frank O'Reilly represents petitioners asking zoning on 60 acres as the south side of the road, near the intersection of Higgins and Cypress Sts. The residents may have been on the position of their driveway that crosses the public way.

The Chesterfield Builders will go before the board with a request for zoning of 345 acres of property north of Higgins Rd. between Arlington Heights and Briggs Grove Rds. They propose to build 2,000 dwelling units of various types for the property estimated to cost more than $40 million.

A 25-year-old Mount Prospect man was killed early Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding ran off the road and overturned along Elmwood Rd. near Old Henry Rd. in Wheeling.

A 612 A-100 was pronounced dead on arrival at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines. The driver was a passenger in the auto driven by John Shadwick, 22, of Glenview. Shadwick was admitted to Holy Family Hospital and is in fair condition with facial lacerations.

Wheeling Police said the cause of the accident has not been determined.

GUSTAF is survived by his wife, Therese, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gustafson Sr., of 400 S. DuSable, Arlington Heights, and two brothers, Fred and John Gustafson, both of Arlington Heights.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 18, at the funeral home of J. J. O'Connell, 400 S. DuSable, Arlington Heights.

Police Hunting Hit-Run Auto

Arlington Heights police are seeking a gold and black sports car which allegedly hit a man after a chase along Algonquin Rd. early Sunday morning.

Dennis Lee, 2300 Algonquin Rd., Rolling Meadows, told police he and his friend were driving on Willie near Central when the car nearly forced him off the road.

He said he chased the auto to Algonquin Rd. just east to Golf. The car turned into a dead-end road, Lee said. As the car was about to turn around, he and the other occupant, Donald Baker, jumped out to block the road.

The other car stopped at the moment, Lee said, then sped forward, knocking Lee down. Baker said he hit the hood with a large piece of wood and made a dent in the side.

Lee said the driver of the car was a glutton and what appeared to be a waitress. The car had Wisconsin license plates, he said.

Firemen Thrill Crowd As They Show Skills

A fire drill demonstration of firemen's skill in fire prevention work in Rolling Meadows as the city's volunteer firemen presented a breath-taking program Friday night.

While hundreds of spectators watched, the firemen under the direction of Chief Thomas Fire Prevention, presented three demonstrations including a ladder drill, a simulated fight to extinguish a burning home and the removal of a trapped victim from a wrecked automobile.

The burning home, a small structure constructed by firemen, was entered by firemen who were assisted by Rolling Meadows Teen Government Fire Chief Vic Zentley, 3500 Pleasant Dr., who had trained with the firemen for a week prior to the show.

While Chief Fogarty explained the firemen extinguished the blaze.

The next segment of the show was begun when the firemen, led by Jim Palfisch, 3618 Kitchell Rd., drove an automobile into the side of the burning building.

Using a gasoline-powered saw, fireman Harold Maltz, 805 Oak Dr., used his saw to cut doors off the victim's car and freed the "victim" who was put into an ambulance to be rushed to a hospital.

FOR MOST of the spectators, the real thrill of the evening was the ladder drill. A 30-foot extension ladder was raised to a vertical position. Fire crew told the top of the ladder were held by firemen on the ground.

With no other support, the ladder swung in the wind and seemed to defy gravity as the firemen.

AS A finale, one fireman climbed to the top of the ladder and another climbed up after him, threw him over his shoulder and carried him to safety.

Chief Fogarty said his men had spent weeks of spare time in rehearsal and drill for the show.

He emphasized that the skills demonstrated at the show are not gimmicks, but essential maneuvers that firemen are required to utilize while fighting a fire.

Wheeling High School's marching band performed before some 50,000 people at Wrigley Field yesterday. To the music of "Chicago," the band released hundreds of balloons in their colorful finale.

Wheeling Band Saves Day For Bear Fans

Wheeling High School's "Marching Wildcats" were the only bright spot for Chicago Bear football fans yesterday. The band presented the half-time show at Wrigley Field yesterday and earned a standing ovation from a crowd of 50,000 who were later disappointed by the Bears' 17-0 loss to the Green Bay Packers.

The "Marching Wildcats," 160 members strong, who made an appearance before the game to play the national anthem.

Under the direction of Dean R. DePuy, assisted by Douglas Peterson, the half-time show presented by the band was nothing short of spectacular.

THEME of the show was "A salute to Chicago." The theme was carried out with intricate formations and lively music typical of Chicago and centered around the Chicago flag of 1837.

During the first half of the two-segment show, the band depicted the "Mrs. O'Leary" story.

The colored ending brought the crowd to its feet. They gave the band a standing ovation as it marched off the field.

DOCTOR SAYS Handle Birds With Care

W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Few of us realize that our lungs bring about 30 pounds of oxygen into our bodies daily, more than the weight of all the food and water we consume. Unfortunately, they also bring in a variety of foreign matter, such as pollen, bacteria, mites, viruses and dust.
Take the case, for example, of three men who travel pneumonia for a hobby. They had a series of bouts of pneumonia but their doctor could not find any evidence of a specific infection.
After many tests it was shown that their disease, called "pigeon-breast" or "bird-fancier's lung," was a severe allergic reaction to pigeon feathers. The same condition has been described in breeders of pigeons and is believed to be closely related to other allergic lung diseases as farmer's lung, maple bark-ripper's disease and mushroom-picker's disease.
Ornithosis (formerly called psittacosis or parrot fever) is a different matter. It is caused by a virus and, although it is most commonly transmitted by pigeons, canaries, ducks, chickens, turkeys and many other species.
The usual incubation period is 7-14 days. Cough, fever, headache and generalized aching are followed by nosebleeds and a dry cough. Often the diagnosis is not suspected until the victim remembers some other encounter with birds.
Ornithosis can be a serious disease but when it is recognized early is its course prompt treatment with penicillin or streptomycin will cure it.
The prevention of this disease involves a period of quarantine for all birds into this country and using commercially prepared medicinal foods for all caged birds.
Please send your questions and comments to W. G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will cover letters of general interest in future columns.

Almost a Talent Dropout, Kim Is Teen Finalist

By MAXINE TYMA

The judges are right. She is charming and talented. She's a great candidate for Miss Teenage Chicago.

Kim, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kim Garity, 2500 Bluebell Lane, Rolling Meadows, was named as one of the 15 finalists in the Miss Teenage Chicago contest last Friday night.

Competition in the search for a teen to represent the city in a contest sponsored by the Chicago Daily News is based on academic performance, talent, personality and charm. The finalists were selected from 40 girls who competed in the State Ballroom of the Palmer House.

KIM was encouraged by her parents. After reaching the state finals, she took several tests for academic performance and to choreograph a dance for the talent division.

"It's very exciting, of course, but being a teen is very busy," she says.

"I like everything about being a teenager. And I like everything about Forest View," she says.

She cites the friendship of the girls and all the personnel as one of the most exciting things about the contest.

Kim is captain of the varsity cheerleaders at Forest View High School and was one of nine students from one of the two girls who were eliminated from competition Friday, were Girl Co. members of Mount Prospect and Natalie Andrews of Arlington Heights.

Kim says cheerleading is her favorite activity but she is also a member of the yearbook staff and student council.

She said she was busy Friday preparing for the Fall Festival activities at school.

FRIDAY night Kim's name was the 12th one to be announced among the finalists. For her talent she did a dance to "The Spanish Flea."

Saturday she appeared in a parade with Jimmy Durante for the benefit of the Children's Memorial Hospital. Sunday she was rehearsing at the Civic Opera House in Chicago.

Thursday Kim and the other finalists met with Elizabeth Arden Sales in Chicago to choreograph a dance for the talent division.

The village board took its first official step toward a garbage landfill last night by awarding $1,500 for a feasibility study of the project.

The board directed Cesar Torres, consulting engineer, to make a study of land north of Dundee Rd. and west of Arlington Heights Rd. to see if it is physically and economically suited to use as a sanitary landfill.

The study, which is to be completed within 40 days, will include specifications on what type of equipment is needed for such a venture and the landfill.

The village board is studying the landfill project through a series of meetings with trustees dating back to last June.

Kerner Assails Republicans At Luncheon for McCabe

Republicans stand in favor of nothing and are against everything, Gov. Otto Kerner charged yesterday at a luncheon honoring James L. McCabe of Arlington Heights.

Kerner made the familiar association with fresh vigor in a banquet speech before the Democratic Women's Club of the 13th Congressional District at Ray Foley's Restaurant, Lincolnwood.

McCabe, a lawyer and former assistant state's attorney, works to succeed Rep. Donald Rumsfeld (R-Ill.).

Blamed in particular by Kerner was Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction.

"All the time I've been governor," Kerner said, "I've had to act as superintendent of schools."

"He's a great basketball coach," the governor said, "but if I was sending my children to basketball I'd want more than basketball. I'd want more of what Don Price, Democratic candidate for the post now held by Page,

Gov. Otto Kerner (left) chats with James L. McCabe of Arlington Heights, Democratic candidate for 13th Congressional District, at a luncheon Monday at McCabe's home.

Price was named on the occasion of a luncheon at McCabe's home.

Kerner said 28 cents of every Illinois tax dollar currently is spent for education. He referred to Donald M. Price, Democratic candidate for the post now held by Page, Mrs. Robert Stier of Prospect is club president. Mrs. Thomas Tiersen of Mount Prospect, vice president.

He accused Rumsfeld of "turning his back on the elderly by voting against Medicare, turning his back on poor people by voting against minority legislation, and turning his back on everyone by voting against the 1964 tax cut."

"The (Rumsfeld) has criticized the Vietnamese situation — and offered no solution," McCabe said.

McCabe also chided his opponent for "checking out on operations with a Chicago campaign on confederations."

Other speaker's table comment introduced were Edward J. Barrett, candidate for Cook County clerk; Minor K. Wilson, for county sheriff; and P. J. Culleton, for county clerk.

Savings Insurance Hike Hailed

A new federal law, which will have an effect on Arlington Heights and surrounding communities.

Paul E. Collins, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Assn., is happy about the new law.

The new law will increase insurance from $10,000 to $15,000 for federal savings and loan associations and banks.

"We hope and believe that this will be a stimulus to encourage savers to increase their accounts. It is a period of tight money that will be a benefit to the community," Collins said.

"This seems to be a good time to increase the insurance maximum. With personal incomes being on the increase, the old coverage of $10,000 seems to be inadequate so we were very happy to see Congress recognize that fact and increase the coverage," he said.

The increased insurance coverage applies to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.

Gentle Protest

Let Them Know You're a Woman

Tired of hearing about the tough ladies' look? You know. Stuff, shiny vinyl, studded leather jackets, chain mail dresses and Prussian helmet-style hats.

If so, join the gentle protest movement.

Your membership card is a lace scarf, a chiffon dress, or any garment in a fine, soft fabric.

The dress of the protest is to marie fashion designers and clothing manufacturers - realize them into remembering that women are women.

Really, who wants to look like a gangster's moll, a storm trooper or a deputized for discarded bits of spool and chain mail?

As counterprotest? Stop and think, and you'll realize that many of the current styles are fashions (not just too feminine) versions of medieval war.

Some Day

The fellow across the street bought a new car so there is one Goldwasser bumper sticker on the block. There is some question as to whether or not his allegiance decayed under the Johnson propaganda or the work of the auto makers.

A recent reporter returned from Randolph Shopping Center with a bumper sticker for various candidates. Robert Schickler, although the same writer, was not offered with explicit directions to list in Sen. Robert Kennedy but in a good word for another Democrat, Sen. Paul Douglas.

The problem, of course, is what to do with the Schickler sticker. Maybe the fellow across the street will take it in the way of the political.

The trouble with bumper stickers is that they are not as desirable as, say, Davey Back. Some campaign ribbons and hats last longer.

The bumper sticker people must realize that. They may know they are not only at the mercy of the political but of two consecutive car owners, but also the manner in which motorists and the varied differences rate.

Vantage Point

In just three short years, Wheeling High School's marching band — 140 members strong — has built an enviable record.

The band, under the baton of Don R. DaPry, has won many national and state honors. It is the Chicago-based Presidential Band and the Minnesota Acquafront marching band.

DaPry has directed the marching band in dozens of public appearances throughout the Chicago area.

Perhaps the high point for the band came Sunday in Wrigley Field as it preceded the halftime show at the Chicago Bear - Green Bay Packers football game.

It was a long day for the band members — and for the spectators, faculty and members who accompanied the band to Chicago.

DaPry, from high above the second deck, stood by his band in despair. Three times they were through their routine.

bright day on the grassy head of the big city.

The band made their first in less than an hour, waving the crowd in the way of the Chicago Bears.

DaPry and his assistants looked down at the Chicago Bears' field for practice. The answer to their questions was the white lines that crisscrossed the field every 10 yards.

Tuberculosis Tests Urged For Children

The American Academy of Pediatrics and the American College of Chest Physicians, both headquartered in Evanston, have recommended that all children between 12 and 12 months be tested for tuberculosis.

The test should be given, if possible, before the child has been vaccinated against measles by smallpox.

The Committee emphasizes that tuberculous infection in children still is prevalent. They further recommended that testing should be repeated yearly up to 4 years of age and thereafter every two years.

Clarification And Correction

Cook County was decentralized.

Mrs. Pons's letter which was printed in the Thursday, October 6 edition, calls for clarification and correction. It raises some questions and leaves the implication there are no answers. For instance she asks "do the people really want to see a small town which makes it impossible to tax corporations without an increased tax on individuals?"

The fact of the matter is the Revenue Article amendment which will be before the voters on November 8, grants authority in only certain areas of tax on individuals and not on corporations.

Another of her questions asks "If it makes sense to require that the Cook County Board be classified? Indeed it does make sense."

Psoriasis

W.C. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Psoriasis is a constantly recurring problem to millions of people. In this disease the skin problem large, hard, shiny scales that are most frequently found on the scalp, elbows, knees and hips. The disease is a slightly but otherwise is just a threat to one's health. The cause is unknown. A reader asks whether the drug metronidazole (Flagyl) is used to treat this disease. My 1966 drug book lists over 80 remedies for psoriasis but metronidazole is not one of them. This drug is used to combat infection, but psoriasis is not an infectious disease. One of the more reliable of medicine is that whenever a lot of drugs are used to treat a condition none of them is very satisfactory. In the case of psoriasis some of the older drugs, and some of the newer, will improve the condition and keep it in check but none is a cure. Since sunlight is beneficial to the lesions, the disease is usually better in summer but a sun lamp can be used to treat it at home in all kinds of weather. The treatments used in the past, such as chrysarobin, ammoniated mercury and coal tar products, had the disadvantage that they were messy—some of the cure being absorbed as bad as the disease. Newer products for local application use a griseofulvin, vitamin base. For acute psoriasis of the scalp, mineral oil should be applied first to loosen the scales. This is followed by a tar shampoo, after which flusate acetone (Synalar), a corticosteroid is applied. All attempts to remove the scale should be gentle. A preliminary soaking in a lubricating bath (Aldrich's, Dorel or Lubex). Ammoniated and mercurated are sometimes given but these are powerful drugs that should be used only in the most severe cases and then only under strict medical supervision.

DOCTOR SAYS

Psychiatric Treatment
BY BRANSTADT, M.D.

Q — How does a person go about getting a member of his family treated for emotional or mental illness? What does a person do if he can't afford a psychiatrist?

A — If you can't persuade the victim to seek psychiatric help voluntarily, there is little you can do to make the decision become so acute as to constitute a danger to himself or others, in which case legal commitment to a mental hospital would be necessary.

Q — I have high blood pressure and have been taking Aldoril. Is it harmful to take this drug occasionally?

A — Aldoril is a combination of methyldopa and hydrochlorothiazide. It can be taken occasionally under medical supervision but it should be discontinued if it causes dizziness or diarrhea.

Q — I take aspirin for my arthritis pain. Will this drug dry my blood up?

A — No, Aspirin is a valuable drug in most forms of arthritis and persons with arthritis are able to take large doses that are often without harmful effects. Too large a dose, however, will irritate your stomach and may cause bleeding. Continued bleeding would thin your blood. If aspirin reduces your stomach you should reduce the dose.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Branstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Branstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Hasbrook Park Ideas Submitted

A full-time recreation director has been requested by Hasbrook Park area residents. William Gierhart of 120 W. Mason, park chairman of the Hasbrook Civic Assn., submitted the request to the board of park commissioners this week.

Gierhart said the request and other suggestions listed in a series of Thomas Thornehill, director of recreation, has the approval of the association.

Gierhart suggested that a park be used to meet the recreational needs of the area. Thornehill and staff personnel are present during the morning and afternoon five days a week to conduct the program and supervise the program.

Other suggestions include: Purchase and install three collapsible table tennis sets. Release basketball backboard to be used exclusively for basketball; a red net for lights of 10 to 15 ft. in size.

Install new mesh over the basketball backboard. The Elkhorn Village Lions Club is sponsoring an open contest during the week of the village's youth's chance to develop a plan for world peace.

The contest is part of a national contest sponsored by Lions clubs and offers $50,000 in total prize money, including a $25,000 first prize and eight semifinal awards of $10,000 each.

Youth between the ages of 14 and 22 must submit essays not to exceed 5,000 words in the Lions club prize to Des Moines, Iowa, by Dec. 15.

A Parade of Career Opportunities

BY MAXINE TYMA

When you open the doors of Holy Family Hospital in Des Moines, be prepared. Bruce Pearson for the parade of career opportunities available to men and women.

Hospital personnel are in the spotlight this week during Community Health Week, Oct. 16-22. Sponsored by the Health Council of Illinois, the week is dedicated to letting the public know the opportunities available in hospital work.

Holy Family Hospital, on Golf and River Rds., has more than 500 paid employees, to assist the 180 members of the medical and dental staff.

There are more than 200 careers represented in a large hospital complex. With the 21 departments at Holy Family there are a variety of careers.

MRS. MARY Blamer of 1410 S. Mason, Mount Prospect, is employed as a laboratory technologist. She has a two-fold reason for working in her profession.

"I like the variety and it is the challenge my work offers. But I also think that a woman has to have a career. She has to have something of value in the commercial world if she is in a position where she has to work," she says.

"I think every woman needs a career. She has to have a purpose in life and has no more than a housewife," Mrs. Blamer says.

She explained that her work is the laboratory offers an opportunity to men and women with a high school or with a college degree. The American Medical Technicians (A.M.T.) certificate, she is earned with a year of special training and a year of internship at an approved hospital. To certify as a registered member of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists (A.S.C.P.) at least three years of college and one year of internship is necessary.

Mrs. Blamer advises the college training, if possible and adds that although the work is similar, the salary scale is higher for persons with an A.S.C.P. registration.

"I know I didn't want to be a nurse and this type of work is very satisfying," she says.

BUT NURSING offers a variety of opportunities for a hospital employee too.

"I have never done anything like this before and this is a new field in hospital work. I have to use every bit of my medical background. And I feel that I am a help to all of my colleagues in this work," Mrs. Dorsey says.

PHYSICAL therapist Mrs. Key Scheraga of 1112 Sycamore La., Mount Prospect, has found a fulfilling career in a hospital as an employee at the hospital.

"It is getting to be almost essential that women must have something in the form of a career to direct life," says Mrs. Scheraga.

"I felt that since my children were grown, my scope as a woman was not limited. Part time work gives one a different outlook on life and a chance to develop new interests," she says.

The high school graduate may wish to become a trainee in a special field. A secretary in a hospital may choose several specialties from a variety of departments without demanding her skill.

A FEW careers that are constantly available to hospital personnel include: inhalation therapist, housekeeper, x-ray technician, dietitian, pharmacist, psychologists, maintenance personnel, and medical record librarians.

Personnel director, Elaine Packish says that a major problem in staffing a hospital adequately is to recruit qualified persons.

Mrs. Mary Blamer of Mount Prospect, chose a career in a hospital laboratory technician because of the variety and challenge it offers her.

Physical therapist Mrs. Key Scheraga of Mount Prospect finds part-time work at the hospital a rewarding experience.

Pam Marker (center) of Des Moines, was graduated from Forest View High School in June. Now she is an accountant in the business office at the hospital. Mrs. Helen Systermoll of Winfield, payroll supervisor, helps Pam to post records.

New Lunch Policy In Dist. 59

New, more liberal lunch policies go into effect Nov. 1 for children in School Dist. 59.

Under new board policy, children who live over eight miles from Forest View High School in June. Now she is an accountant in the business office at the hospital. Mrs. Helen Systermoll of Winfield, payroll supervisor, helps Pam to post records.

Each school principal will be the final authority for regulations affecting his area, and may discontinue the program at any time if the parents do not cooperate in the supervision.

Principals plan to submit detailed proposals for their schools in the administration within the next few days.

The "cold-war" lunch policy previously in existence throughout the elementary district also continues. Under Virginia and Robert Frost, all children may bring a lunch when the principal approves at 8 a.m. at O'Hare is ask for a review of the former policy.

Dist. 59 includes Juliette Low School in Arlington Heights, and Robert Frost, Forest View Elementary, and Dempsey High School in Mount Prospect.

'I'll Give You Ten Cents for It'

BUDDY RICH and his orchestra will appear for one night only Friday October 21st, AT THE BRAMBLE BUSH, 1367 Rand Rd., Arlington Heights.

BY BETTY ANSLIE

One woman's trash may be another woman's treasure. For example take a garage sale — the popular suburban method of getting rid of that overflow of basement and attic.

There's something fascinating and alluring about a second-hand store, so auction, a just about a rummage or garage sale. These are low-maintenance spread out tables or heaped in boxes bring out the "hunting for a bargain" instinct in every woman.

A collection of scattered linens, sport hats, chest, chairs, pictures, clothes, jewelry, knick knacks previously relegated to a dark basement corner is placed in attractive groupings — hanging on the walls or suspended from the beams of a garage and offered for sale.

A group of women gathered for their third day of morning coffee in a neighbor's kitchen finish rummaging over the day-evening-evening's cold, wet, trouble with the teacher and finally the staff cleaned out of living room and closets. "I'd love that basket of flowers you keep moving from room to room," declared one neighbor.

"I can't pay much but I could refund one and find something else to put in my favorite chair" — complete to sell his pipe, another neighbor adds.

"Say, we've all things would like to sell. Together a lot too good for junk peddlers. Let's bring it all together in my garage and have a sale," says an organizing neighbor.

The garage filled and emptied and filled again with women and their bargains.

The rain beat on the roof and splashed in at the door. I dashed to the phone to call a neighbor to help handle the early morning crowd for a garage sale.

"No one is here right mind would swap an unnecessary foot out of the door today," I declared. Pop as he left for work and I surveyed the leaves and rain falling into the open doors of the garage. But women appeared, magically drawn by the dripping garage sale sign on a front tree and a newspaper of the earlier.

A woman with a pensive look in hand expertly searched through a box of pots and pans — another opened the odd assortment of wanted items.

"Hi there," they greeted each other. "What other places are you going to today?" One asked.

"We spend every Friday making the rounds of garage sales," they explained.

"I keep a list," one woman declared. "A list of all the sales advertised all week. List them according to date and time and I spend my time going from one to another."

"I should be cleaning my house," said another woman overhearing the conversation. "But it is such a horrible day and it is much more fun."

"Are you looking for anything in particular?" I asked, amazed at the number of women peddling in the garage.

"Oh no, nothing is particular. You just can never tell how long I'll need them."

THE WOMEN in raincoats left umbrellas near the door; inflated plastic rain hats and began leafing through a box of books, turned over bed-spreads, aprons and dinner scarfs.

"Follow you a small table," one asked.

"I'll give you $2.50 instead of $4 for that picture," said another.

The garage filled and emptied and filled again with women and their bargains.

"I only come to get out of the house," one woman said. "You meet the nicest people and get a chance to talk and who knows I might really find something."

"I buy all the sparkling jewelry I can find," said a well-dressed woman handling a quarter for a rhinestone pin.

"I see the stores for decorating Christmas ornaments."

IT IS surprising the odd assortment of wanted items. Two TV sets went to a lone man customer. "I've been searching for these for several weeks," he declared.

Furniture was bought — "It's just freer for me," said a woman about our brand new fence which sets permanently in a garage corner.

So on. I could have seen golf clubs several times, they were forgotten and left hanging on a garage bracket before the sale.

Your customers took high and low. They pull out of bargains under tables and take things down the walls.

A quarter box of buttons caused excitement. "I'd like them for a collection I have," said one woman.

"We'll just start hanging things I need them," said the young girl who had discovered the box.

A group of women gathered around the girl and the box. "Have you any more little boxes?" one asked.

THINGS YOU figure will be left up to the first customer. There's just no figuring the sale of women.

So if you plan a garage sale let me offer a few pointers gathered from a week-end of experience.

1. Price things reasonably — actually low. Your customers are hunting bargains and they'll come in a rush or wait to find them, but they'll leave if they figure they are priced too high.

2. Have a lot of small items — knick knacks, potpourri, odd but pretty cups and saucers, jewelry and small pictures, they sell quickly.

3. Place items in large boxes. Your customers enjoy digging through things with the hope of coming up with a surprise.

4. Advertise your sale and place signs near the street.

5. Price most items, but have a few unpriced to when questioned you can tell more about the demand and can fix a price at the spur of the moment.

6. Have a table of odds and ends, priced at a dime or even a nickel.

7. Hang pictures, books, folding equipment or garden tools on the wall where they can be seen at a glance.

8. Have several dollars in small change. That customer who hands you a ten dollar bill for a quarter (even less) gives you even a quarter if you can't change her bill.

9. Don't be unhappy over lowering your price. After all one dollar is better than that unwanted object not sold.

10. Be sure you have your sale on Friday. Saturday is the day your women have husbands home and so they have to get busy with the housework.

Come next week-end I'm doing things right. Saturday is the day I've heard it sounds like fun and who knows I might find something cheap that I can use.

Chance To Learn To Strum

Plan Parade For Halloween

The first Halloween Costume Parade, sponsored by the River Trails Park District and the Roundabout Merchants Assn., will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 30, in the shopping center mall.

Eight different categories have been set for the costume contest, with three prizes awarded in each category. Everyone in the parade will receive a candy bar and the merchants association is providing 24 gift certificates to women.

THERE ARE four categories for individual entrants — most comical and most beautiful — both for those under nine years old and those over nine years old.

Couples entering the contest will be judged according to the most comical and most beautiful, grumpy (such as boy scouts or brownies) and family (mom, dad and the baby).

B'nai B'rith Boutique Bazaar Is Tonight

Alysh Chapter of the B'nai B'rith Women will conduct a boutique bazaar at 8:30 p.m. tonight at Bush Tivoli, Congregation, 275 Hillcrest Blvd., Highland Station.

Items for sale at the public event will include pottery, candles, glass, leather, copper, brass sculptures and rug-stuffed sweaters.

Achievement Parade At Court of Honor

James Kellogg, 701 N. Elm, Prospect Heights, is one of the area's newest Eagle Scouts. Kellogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kellogg, was inducted into the ranks of Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor Friday, Oct. 7, for Boy Scout Troop 36 at MacArthur Junior High School in Prospect Heights.

Eagle Kellogg was further honored by the Glenview Naval Air Station where he has participated in the survival training program.

Commander Frank Vigolo, of Glenview, presented a citation to Kellogg, signed by E. W. Labay, commanding officer of the Glenview facility. Captain Labay said in his commendation, "I wish to extend my sincere thanks to you for the many hours you have devoted in assisting the Naval Air Station in its survival program. This valuable training may some day save the lives of some of our airmen."

PARTICIPANTS in the court of honor included Bob Newman, district advancement chairman, Doug Glamm, district commissioner, Roy Martin, assistant district commissioner, and Bob LeFurge, district chairman.

Other participants were Jack Costello, district scout executive; Charles Beers, neighborhood commissioner; Robert Cook, Troop 36 Scoutmaster; Paul Johnson, Troop 36 advancement chairman; and Bill Valant, Prospect Heights Improvement Area, president.

Two Prospect Heights Order of the Arrow Eagle Scouts, George B. St. John and Bernie Siskind, served as usher during the impressive Eagle ceremony.

IN ADDITION to the honors bestowed on Eagle Kellogg, all ranks of scouting from underfoot through life scouts were accepted to members of Troop 36.

Scoutmaster Cook, along with his assistants, Jim Duet, Sam Beltran and Bill Fry, presented the awards.

Tenderfoot awards were presented to John Kellogg, Dick Smith and Bruce King.

Second Class awards went to Bob Cummings and Dale Harrington.

First Class awards were given to Scott Harrington, Terry Brennan, Steve Fry and Mary Perkinson.

Mary Duet was presented with his star award and also Zeln awarded the rank of Star Scout.

Merit badges in various fields of scouting were presented to Steve Fry, Terry Brennan, Dale Harrington, Mike Richards, Scott Harrington, Gary Cummings and Jim Kellogg.

Wow! Little brother John, right, is obviously impressed with James Kellogg's array of merit badges, including the coveted Eagle Scout Award.

RIGHT-Proud parents of Eagle James Kellogg are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kellogg, 701 N. Elm, Prospect Heights. They were the first to inspect the Eagle who awarded James at ceremonies at MacArthur Junior High School.

Ronald Shebold on his motorcycle after emergency trip for blood supply.

2 Police Departments Rush Blood to Aid a Mother

Two police departments rushed blood to Northwest Community Hospital yesterday on an errand of mercy for a woman in the maternity ward. Mrs. Angelo Martin, 34, had given birth to a daughter when attendants found there was a shortage of her blood type. A call to Sherman Hospital in Elgin located the needed blood. Elgin police rushed a supply to Burlington and Golf Rd., where they met Mrs. V. Ronald Shebold of the Arlington Heights police force. Shebold, on a motorcycle, completed the final leg of the journey. Hospital officials said the woman is in good condition.

For those who cannot make the session, a second will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. Individuals willing to donate their time may call United Fund headquarters, 229-2400.

Bowling Alley Bar Closed for 30 Days

Appeal to State Expected Today

BY JIM ROSS

A 30-day suspension of the liquor license of the Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes will be appealed by the owner.

The suspending operations was issued yesterday against Thomas Kouros by acting Liquor Control Commissioner Frank Palminteri.

Paul Henry Koetz, owner of the Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes, said he would file an appeal today with the Illinois Liquor Control Board.

"Once the appeal is entered," Koetz said, "we will be able to begin operations again. I expect the bar will be open by 5 p.m. Friday."

The suspension is the result of a hearing Tuesday night on charges that Kouros sold alcoholic beverages to minors in his establishment on Oct. 11, and that he sold liquor after midnight.

Palminteri, in an 11-page order, said he based his decision on a "preponderance of evidence" that Kouros sold alcohol to minors on the day of the 21-year-old girl in the bowling alley.

SEVERAL witnesses at the hearing gave conflicting testimony. "If the evidence were clear beyond a reasonable doubt on this point," the order said, "I would order the revocation of the liquor license held by the licensee. However, since I make this finding on the preponderance of evidence, I am limiting this order to the suspension of the license for 30 days which is the maximum suspension permitted by the Illinois Statute."

Koetz said the suspension would do great harm to his client.

"It would ruin him," he said. "Since he has been doing it, he has lost $2,000 and three bowling leagues have pulled out on him."

KOUBOS also is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and with having activities in his establishment on Oct. 11.

One of the girls who was released by Kouros at 4:30 p.m. is now appearing in Arlington Heights Circuit Court Monday on that charge.

Koetz said his client categorically denies all charges. "I don't know what the motive was for this," he said.

He is behind the charges," Koetz said, "but there is nothing wrong with the way it is obviously part of a game plan."

Koetz said he expects the bar to be in operation while a decision is reached by the State Liquor Control Board.

Witness New Faces Charge

A witness for the village in the appeal is the Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes. He himself has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Taylor "Skip" Evans, 21, of 319 N. Kenzie, introduced himself to police yesterday. He posted $300 bond.

Evans testified Tuesday night at the hearing before the board, saying that he purchased two bottles of beer and gave them to a 17-year-old girl in the bowling alley operated by Thomas Kouros.

Evans said the girl had told him she is 21 years old. The girl testified this testimony.

Evans will answer the charge in Arlington Heights Circuit Court Monday, the same day Kouros is to appear on a charge of attacking a 17-year-old girl.

Board to Study Defeat of Parks

The reasons for the defeat of the Oct. 8 Arlington Heights Park District referendum will be studied by all board members.

Charles Cronin, president of the board of park commissioners, suggested Tuesday that the entire board review the referendum results.

"It seems that people did not want higher taxes at this time," Cronin said.

"There is a great need for the facilities and we should make an effort to find out if the defeat was strictly because of the higher taxes or if we are going to have some real problems with the park the year and we will have to decide what to do," he said.

"OTHER facilities are needed," added Thomas Thorne, director of parks.

"There are no more football and baseball fields."

"The school districts make an effort to bring out the vote every year but are not an alternative approach in selling the issue to the community," said Attorney Charles Bobb.

Alarm System Studied

Elk Grove Township officials are investigating burglary protection measures after two township police were out on patrol and burglarized last week.

The metal safe valued at $1,200 was out on Saturday morning with a gas torch owned by the township. Approximately $900 was stolen from these eight homes in the safe. The money was taken from the safe. The money was taken from the safe. The money was taken from the safe.

"We got off pretty lucky. They could have burned the whole place up," township supervisor said Attorney Charles Bobb.

"It could just as well have the safe open and just let them take the money," George R. Brown, township clerk said. "It cost us more to repair the safe than we lost in money."

THIS IS the second time the township has been broken into during the last year and a half. The burglar is believed to be an experienced burglar between Arlington Heights and Elk Grove. The burglar is believed to be an experienced burglar between Arlington Heights and Elk Grove.

Rafferty said he has talked with Elk Grove police officials about the possibility of having a burglary alarm system installed in the township.

Some Day

It is a good idea to stand church to discover the sky is not falling after all.

Last Sunday the preacher talked about sin. He said he will continue with Part II next Sunday.

A two-part series on sin is pretty unusual for most churches, although it may have been fleetingly mentioned in bygone years. The comforting message, after you become accustomed to hearing the word, is that sin is still reserved for married people.

The word some some took, because there is a group of preachers over in England who have been quoted in the newspapers as saying that things are different in the modern world.

The English version sounded something like you would expect to hear from a college student, some of that "free love" stuff.

The thought reminds you of the "Jim Galt" propaganda being distributed by other church splinter groups. If they can kill God and break the marriage vows, is it only a step or two to "Mother I'm Pregnant" and "Real Free"?

These crackpot ideas are a blighting in disguise for the churches. It makes them get up and preach on subjects that have been ignored too long.

The churches have a lot of housecleaning to do. In as much as people are trying to break the color line in their own minds, it seems appropriate for Christian denominations to continue civil war.

... by Frank E. Von Arx

During the week of Nov. 13 the clergy of Arlington Heights is sponsoring Abolish War that includes a visit to a Methodist, Catholic, Lutheran and Christian church.

Once the Christian gain in the neighborhood among themselves they have to be honest and say that God is not dead and marriage is really a sacred institution.

Abolish War deserves all the encouragement it can get.

Vantage Point

Now, they want the taxpayers to finance the presidential election.

One of the most ridiculous pieces of legislation ever to confront a national congress would create a $30,000,000 trust fund for paying the expenses of the two major political parties in presidential election years.

This fund would be raised by taxpayers each contributing $1 with their federal income tax funds and designating that dollar be used to finance the campaign.

We hope that our Senators, Paul Douglas and Everett M. Dirksen would resist this measure. We hope that our 13th District Representative is Congress, Donald Rumsfeld, just as his platform and speaks out loud and clear against this latest attempt by the Democratic party structure in Washington to perpetuate themselves in office.

If Democrats want to respect Lyndon B. Johnson in November, 1964, let them raise the money themselves. If Republicans want to contest the election, let them do it with their own resources, not with public funds.

It's not all rosy as far as the amendments are concerned. Powerful opposition to the Chicago Heights, IL, School of Women Voters and the State Council of TFA.

OCTOBER 31 is "Rag Day" in Wheeling Township. Page 4 and on for a second term as state representative of public instruction, will tour the area and be gone at a luncheon at the Town Hall at Randolph, Evanston for 11 years and is highly respected by many.

OVERLOOKED by reporters covering the Arlington Heights Bowling League liquor case is opening. Tom Korost, past president of the league, has been in business in Arlington Heights for 11 years and is highly respected by many.

CHARGES now filed against Korost before the Arlington Heights Liquor Commission are the first ever brought in Korost or his establishment.

ARE ELECTIONS "solon" in Illinois? We spent a profitable two hours with Tom Novak this week and are in agreement with him. It is obvious that votes are stolen in the City of Chicago.

Novak is co-chairman of "Operation Eagle Eye," the Republican vote watching unit formed after the 1960 presidential election.

"Eagle Eye" is a growing organization. They expect to have 6,000 volunteers post in Chicago precincts on Nov. 3 and guarantee an honest election.

Novak says that the 1964 presidential election was not "solon." He admits that the Republicans were defeated and defeated badly.

This year, however, Novak looks for some very close races. Stolen votes in what he calls the 1,500 polluted precincts in Chicago could make the difference a Charles Perot's unexpected appearance.

Tom told a lot more to watch for in general and Operation Eagle Eye in particular next week is The Day.

MEMBERS of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce are meeting in Chicago to discuss the future of the city. The agenda is to discuss the city's economic situation and the role of the state chamber in business and more political action.

-Plautus tried to tell us, 2,000 years ago!

This great dramatist of pre-Christian Rome knew the power of money. "See, I pray you," he said, "what money can do."

What Plautus was driving at was not the excess of money some of us dream of—not the wild, like winning a lottery. What he had in mind was the sound and wise management of money.

Good use of whatever money comes our way is indeed power—power over ourselves, our needs and wants, our aspirations.

The best use of money is to put some of it by, regularly and systematically. A savings account with us has all the features desirable in such a program—flexibility, availability, convenience, and insured safety.

Community Investment

On Monday, volunteer workers will again go from door to door, asking residents of this area to contribute to the various United Fund, Combined Appeal and Annual Appeal programs, all part of the Metropolitan Council of Mercy.

At this time, it would be well for everyone to look around his community and discover what the various agencies which receive support from the fund organizations are accomplishing and what they can accomplish.

A community, no matter how wealthy or how well run it is in the opinion of its residents, can not be healthy unless it can provide funds for charitable, civic or health organizations to continue their work with the less fortunate. Many donations are discovered and cared if the proper agencies are given the financial assistance necessary for research. Many persons can be helped if the required funds are available for proper treatment of their problems.

The organizations which are part of this great effort in aid ask for the funds only the share they feel is needed in too many cases, agents are just getting by on the budgets they have.

The volunteers who ring your doorbell during the campaign have already given their share in either a lump sum or through payroll deductions. In addition, they are giving of time and effort to help this worthy cause. In the organizations which benefit through the fund drives and which through their work benefit the community, other volunteers are giving of themselves for beyond that which the general public sees. But results of their work can be estimated by anyone who takes the time to visit the agencies.

Donations to this annual drive are more than just charity. They are investments in the present and future health of the community.

Long May It Fly

Speaking of tender, loving care for the Dragonfly, the Air Force reports that one of its planes in Viet Nam is now serving in its third war.

The plane, No. 45-1121, a twin-engine C-47 transport, rolled off the assembly line in 1941 just in time for World War II. Twenty-five years later, and 13 years after Korea, the same plane is assigned to the 4th Air Commando Squadron in South Viet Nam as an AC-47 Dragonship.

The "747" old 45-1121's designation stands for attack. The Dragonship label refers to the tongue of fire in its nose. When the plane is in action, it is a rapid-firing, gun-slinging machine gun.

Interestingly enough, 1941 was also the year that three of the members of 45-1121's present seven-man crew were born.

Letters to the Editor

She's Proud Of Wheeling
Editor:
I would like to know why there is a big problem when everyone compliments Wheeling? Why do people have to make phone calls and write many letters because someone cares enough to give Wheeling students credit for their accomplishments? As far as I can tell, every school is great equal contributor to the paper. You have a lot of other people in it. We've heard very hard to do. The Arlington Heights is a lovely, vibrant, superior ability as a teacher and person we'd be nothing. We're proud of at least 5 hours of their for the Blue's game 2 hours during school and 3 hours at night. Then someone took the time to make our efforts known and their results, saying, "Well, the school thought we were worth mentioning." We're the school that popped out and won a national competition. After all, our student body pride of you doesn't, in my mind, mean you have to have your hand outstretched to the paper. You have a lot of other people in it. We've heard very hard to do. DOCTOR SAYS
Taste, Smell
Senses Gone
W.C. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — Recently I have been able to taste. My sense of smell is also dulled. What causes this and what can be done for it?

A — The ability to "taste" flavors depends entirely on our sense of smell. Loss of the true sense of taste (salt, sour, sweet and bitter) is extremely rare. Loss of the sense of smell is usually due to nasal obstruction from nasal polyps, chronic sinusitis or allergic rhinitis. It may be aggravated by excessive use of nasal decongestants. Have your doctor determine which of the above causes applies to you and the proper corrective treatment can be prescribed.

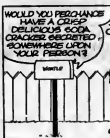

Q — I have been having a salty taste in my mouth. What could cause this?

A — One cause is excessive sweating. Others include the action of an acid secreted by a metabolic dental filling, sleeping with the mouth open and taking medicines that contain sodium or calcium chloride, sodium or potassium iodide or bicarbonate of soda. From the excessive use of table salt in your diet may be the cause. In a few instances chronic emotional problems have been blamed but proof of this is hard to establish.

Q — I have had a chronic salt condition called for several years. How can I get rid of it?

A — The salt infestation is usually due to a thyrotoxic condition, the longer you have had it the harder it is to get rid of. The endocrine system, which is the body's internal clock, takes by mouth may do the trick. This drug requires a doctor's prescription. If it doesn't cure you, there are other means that contain a combination of substances that may be tried. As to added prevention you should use a soap that contains hexachlorophene.

Prospecting

WITH DALE HOFFMANN

THERE WAS a time when we drooled over the prospect of covering two or three high school football games a weekend. The anticipation of the color and excitement that only prep football can offer made our pulse quiver.

Our feet were always itching on Wednesday to the beat of the band we would hear on Friday. The dour realities of gray tweedies and ribbons and crumpled copy paper were replaced by a stream of heaping cheer and sprightly puns from girls.

There was a time when all that happened, it was in September. It's almost November now, and there is still color in a prep football spectator. The puns go right to the top.

THE BAND was in town tonight to make the trombone slide, and the water boys are carrying staves. The concession stands haven't sold a coke in two weeks, but 14-year-olds are downing coffee like water from the gale.

Look at that kid shivering up there in the stands, trying to keep warm while shaking a blanket with half a dozen people he doesn't know. That's you.

Catch that madman running up and down the sidelines, scribbling illegible marks on a scrum of old-stained notebook paper with hands that have turned to lobster claws. That's me.

The hands go first. They have to, because you can't write with gloves on. Down to the line is the ball game, kugle kugle. Catch place and you're a candidate for Captain Hook as the touring Prep Pox show.

THEN IT'S the feet. It's a rule of sports writing that you put your feet in shoes when you get into the game. They spend hundreds keeping the field in shape, and there's nothing about the feet for the sidelines. Three pairs of wool socks and you're in the Grand Canyon once you step into a puddle. Stamp and you're on crutches for the duration.

Long underwear is the greatest invention since the wheel, but it can't take the whole job. Last week we went to the Prospect-Cornwall game and suffered one shattering experience after another.

We decided at halftime to do one of those big coats the football players wear when they sit on the bench. There were a lot of coats lying around.

THINGS WENT fine until the fourth quarter. We were standing on the 20 yard line, and the referee stopped the game. He came to us and said we would have to get back into the coaches' area if we were going to keep that Prospect coat on. Coaches and unfriendly personnel aren't allowed beyond the 40.

It was the first infraction he had seen all afternoon. The game was a good one, and we suppose it was worth it. But just to make for high school football fields. We want drama, light, the kind they have over the Houston baseball field.

ELK GROVE High School still won't let us alone. Nice more post cards came in this morning with 45 more signatures of students who promise they will be at Saturday's game with Maine South.

The celebrity list is swelling too. Maxwell Smart is going to be there now. And there really is a Candy Kane?

A test card came from the principal, Dr. Donald Thomas. He says he has ordered 1,000 reply cards for the game, and he is going to give one to every Elk Grove student who answers. Any apples that are not given away, he says, are O.U.B.'s.

That stinks as as a pretty sneaky way to spoil our free meal. We have a confession to make. It is going to have to deliver the chairs, because we will not be able to attend the game ourselves.

IT'S JUST that there are five high school games on in the area this weekend, and we have two other go to.

Well, we didn't sign our name to any of those crazy post cards.

Grid Broadcasts Sliced

Arlington Heights State WinCC will broadcast three prep football games this weekend.

FBH on the schedule is Prospect vs. Deerfield at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. The game is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. The game is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Wine Game Ball
Michigan State's Dr. Dean C. Dwyer, Ohio's John J. Dwyer, will be the first two to play in the 1966 Ohio State contest for intercollegiate two passes in the final minutes of play.

The Forest View High School Marching Band brings into its final march during last week's halftimes shown at the Prospect-Forest football game. The band is marching to for a huge P-V on the field while playing the school's song.

League Crown May Be Won This Weekend

The importance of the Rose Bowl incentive will get a good use when the Prospect-Cornwall game is played in a crucial Big Ten football battle in the State's Sports Stadium Saturday.

The teams have no conference titles to defend, but the game is one of the only ones remaining where the underdog can win and get into the playoffs.

THE ONE BIG difference in the picture is that Prospect is the team that has been beaten by the Rose Bowl by losing to the Spartans while the Spartans were continuing to win.

THE FAMED Little Brown Jug, one of the most treasured possessions of any college football team, will be on display at A.A.U. North, Michigan State's football game.

THE COPIERS will bring a 1-0-1 Big Ten record into the contest. The Spartans have won four of five games and completed four of a study 61 percentage of success.

A sound passing attack also counts some of the best talent in the conference off balance. This is provided by fullback Perry Williams and halfback Bob Hart.

Top backfielder includes backfield Frank Burke, halfback John Charles, and tackle Lane Olson. Guard Chuck Greenberg and tackle

It's 'Bounce Back' Week for Gridders

BY DALE HOFFMANN

The recuperative power of the area's prep football squads will undergo some stress testing this weekend, as local teams enter the twilight zone of the season.

No one had an easy time of it last week, and the exception of Forest View which walked over Prospect 19-0, Arlington saw its running attack pummeled by a 14-14 tie with Maine West, and Prospect was thrashed in a 14-13 heart-breaker with Cornell. While the Cardinals were lucky to escape with a win and a tie in their last two games, the Cardinals were lucky to escape with a win and a tie in their last two games.

THE MAN who may have more trouble than anyone in mindling his charge up to Arlington's Al Allen. The Cardinals were lucky to escape with a win and a tie in their last two games.

ST. VIATOR has an advantage of sorts in its Sunday game with the Mel. The Lions were embarrassed in last week's game, but the Mel's injury list is long.

THE KNIGHTS had the smattering of wins in their last two games, but the Mel's injury list is long.

Brown Jug At Stake Again for the "Championship of the West" as it was advertised in Minneapolis, Michigan has won 1950, Minnesota 14, and St. George 1951 and 1952.

THE NORTON creek has made ten new trips to Ann Arbor and is up to date in its record since that time. The Wolverines have retained the Jug the last over four straight in the series.

THE HUSKIES, on their way from 1943 to 1953, Minnesota retained it for a nine-year stretch from 1954 to 1963. Michigan also kept the trophy from 1964 to 1965.

FOR THE statisticians, the game will be the 57th in the series which began in 1892 with a 1-0-0 victory. The Michigan and Blue has nearly won 33 games, the Green 20, and three tie meetings of 1960.

SINCE 1963 when the Jug rivalry began at a 6-6 tie

Our Grid Consensus

The Day's sports staff has carefully predicted the winners in 19 grid games this weekend. The staff's predictions follow:

ARLINGTON VS. FOREST VIEW tonight. The Cardinals are due to lose in the area this weekend. Forest View's erratic game can be dangerous. Grand games are about the same, but the Cardinals' superior defense should make it a 14-14 tie.

PROSPECT VS. DEERFIELD tomorrow. Deerfield is the experienced leader in the Central Suburban League, while the Knights are the new leader in the Mid-Suburban league. The Knights are poised, and a homecoming crowd could be a factor in the outcome. Prospect 6, Deerfield 6.

WHITENING VS. CONANT tomorrow. The Wildcats are better bet careful now that Conant has gotten the full of the last week's game. Whitening has the home touch, and it looks like Whitening 21, Conant 14.

ST. VIATOR VS. ST. MEL. Sunday. St. Mel hasn't won a game yet. In fact the Knights have won only 14 points in four games. St. Viator was outmanned in its last game, but Jim Grove has enough to make it at least St. Viator 26, St. Mel 12.

ELK GROVE VS. MAINE SOUTH. The Cardinals are due to lose in the area this weekend. Elk Grove's erratic game can be dangerous. Grand games are about the same, but the Cardinals' superior defense should make it a 14-14 tie.

ST. VIATOR VS. ST. MEL. Sunday. St. Mel hasn't won a game yet. In fact the Knights have won only 14 points in four games. St. Viator was outmanned in its last game, but Jim Grove has enough to make it at least St. Viator 26, St. Mel 12.

WHEELING also figures to face a momentum problem. The Cardinals are due to lose in the area this weekend. Forest View's erratic game can be dangerous. Grand games are about the same, but the Cardinals' superior defense should make it a 14-14 tie.
